STATEMENT OF AMICUS CURIE

Eastside Legal Assistance Program ("ELAP") is a regional non-profit organization that provides free civil legal services to domestic violence survivors throughout King County, Washington and to low-income residents of East and Northeast King County. Since opening in 1989, ELAP volunteer attorneys have contributed over 20,000 hours of free legal aid, serving more than 50,000 clients.

Established in 1906, YWCA Pierce County has been a community leader in domestic violence services for over 36 years. After starting the Washington State's first domestic violence shelter in 1976, the YWCA has steadily expanded and enhanced a comprehensive menu of domestic violence service provisions, including legal services and community advocacy in addition to emergency shelters and permanent housing programs, crises hotlines, children and teen programs, therapeutic services, and domestic violence services trainings.

The Tacoma-Pierce County Bar Association Volunteer Legal Services Program ("TPCBA VLS") provides legal information, pro se assistance, briefing services and full representation to low-income clients who have civil legal issues in Pierce County, Washington. TPCBA VLS partners with other legal aid providers, community organizations, local governments and the courts to meet the legal needs of the Tacoma-Pierce County community. It offers clinical programs and extensive self-help resources addressing specific populations and areas of legal need, including family law.

Snohomish County Legal Services (“SCLS”) is a free, legal-aid program that has served Snohomish County residents experiencing poverty since 1983. SCLS staff, pro bono attorneys, and volunteers provide information, advice, and legal representation to ensure meaningful access to justice regardless of individual barriers and needs. SCLS supports over 225 pro bono attorneys from the community, who donate their time in SCLS legal clinics and classes, and by taking cases for direct representation in areas of civil legal practice that affect the basic needs of clients. In the past year, SCLS assisted over 1,200 clients. SCLS is interested in ensuring domestic violence victims have access to all of the relief available pursuant to RCW 26.50, the DVPA.

Amici submit this brief to provide the Court with context for the issues in this case through the “on the ground” experiences of local attorneys who are facing judicial officers’ misapplication and misinterpretation of the Domestic Violence Protection Act, RCW 26.50 (“DVPA”). When judicial officers properly apply the DVPA, petitioners obtain temporary and full domestic violence protection orders that provide immediate safety from a threatening or violent family or household member. Unfortunately for domestic violence victims, their children, and future potential victims, Washington courts have begun trending away from correctly applying the DVPA.

Judicial officers have started issuing full domestic violence protection orders not for a full year, but instead for sporadic and seemingly random durations of time; the judge in this case issued an order for fifty-six days. Further, they have been finding facts in favor of the petitioner, but then refusing to issue final domestic violence protection orders and instead sending the petition to the family law courts. In fact, some judicial officers are even requiring a victim to file a separate lawsuit in order to obtain any kind of order for protection. As a result, ELAP attorneys and domestic violence advocates across the state are seeing delays, docket and court confusion, and, most significantly, that the DVPA is not providing protection for those who need it most.

Permitting judicial officers to issue partial protection orders is inexcusable as a matter of public policy and unauthorized as a matter of law. Amici urge the Court to confirm that a domestic violence protection order must be independent of any other court proceedings that may or may not exist between the parties and must be a full year in duration.

ARGUMENT

I. The Domestic Violence Protection Act, RCW 26.50

Individuals who are in danger of abuse by their spouses, partners, or significant others should be able to seek immediate and permanent prevention of such harm by turning to the courts. Through the DVPA, the legislature created a specific vehicle to protect domestic violence victims and minor family or household members: a domestic violence protection order (“DVPO”). The legislature intended the process—from temporary order to full DVPO—to be an autonomous, immediate, and effective way to prevent domestic violence.¹ In recognition of the unique problems facing domestic violence victims,² a DVPO is

See also Br. of Amici Curiae Domestic Violence Legal Empowerment & Appeals Project & Jane Stoeve, Dir. of the Domestic Violence Clinic & Co-Dir. of the Interdisciplinary Center on Family Violence, University of Cal.—Irvine Sch. of Law, filed concurrently.

² As explained in the Findings to RCW 26.50.030, “[d]omestic violence is a problem of immense proportions affecting individuals as well as communities. Domestic violence has long been recognized as being at the core of other major social problems: Child abuse, other crimes of violence against person or property, juvenile delinquency, and alcohol and drug abuse. Domestic violence costs millions of dollars each year in the state of Washington for health care, absence from work, services to children, and more. The crisis is growing.

While the existing protection order process can be a valuable tool to increase safety for victims and to hold batterers accountable, specific problems in its use have become evident. Victims have difficulty completing the paperwork required particularly if they have limited English proficiency; model forms have been modified to be inconsistent with statutory language; different forms create confusion for law enforcement agencies about the contents and enforceability of orders. Refinements are needed so that victims have the easy, quick, and effective access to the court system envisioned at the time the protection order process was first created.

When courts issue mutual protection orders without the filing of separate written petitions, notice to each respondent, and hearing on each petition, the original petitioner is deprived of due process. Mutual protection orders label both parties as violent and treat both as being equally at fault. Batterers conclude that the violence is excusable or provoked and victims who are not violent are confused and stigmatized. Enforcement may be ineffective and mutual orders may be used in other proceedings as evidence that the victim is equally at fault.

Valuable information about the reported incidents of domestic violence in the state of Washington is unobtainable without gathering data from all law enforcement agencies; without this information, it is difficult for policymakers, funders, and service providers to plan for the resources and services needed to address the issue.

distinct from any other order for protection, with its own procedure and protocols, and providing different protections for petitioners.

1. Applying the Domestic Violence Protection Act Properly

For years, Washington agencies have worked to make the DVPO process swift, easy, and accessible to everyone. A domestic violence victim can find instructions and all DVPO-related forms online or at the courthouse, in multiple languages;³ present them to a commissioner or judge ex parte, with or without representation and without payment of any fee;⁴ and receive a temporary order for protection on the spot.⁵ Judicial officers typically set temporary protection orders to last fourteen days to protect petitioners to the scheduled full hearing for a full

Domestic violence must be addressed more widely and more effectively in our state: Greater knowledge by professionals who deal frequently with domestic violence is essential to enforce existing laws, to intervene in domestic violence situations that do not come to the attention of the law enforcement or judicial systems, and to reduce and prevent domestic violence by intervening before the violence becomes severe.”

protection order.⁶ Victim advocates are available in some courtrooms and are able to effectively help petitioners through the process, without cost. Law enforcement automatically enters the order into the state wide computer system⁷ and can facilitate service of the order on the abuser, thereby keeping the victim out of harm's way.⁸ If the domestic violence victim does not remain in the home, the court may order a law enforcement officer to accompany the victim to collect her belongings.⁹ All of these processes are in place to streamline the court procedure and to prevent future domestic violence in our State.

For a victim, a temporary order for protection is the first step in a significantly different life trajectory: it gives her a meaningful opportunity to achieve safety and security for not only her, but any children or minors residing in the home. The fourteen days following the issuance of a temporary domestic violence order often involves (1) securing physical distance and safety by moving herself, her children, and their necessary belongings to an emergency safe house or secret location; (2) obtaining financial resources that are independent of the abuser to ensure financial freedom; (3) seeking therapeutic services for herself and her children, often provided at no cost by organizations such as amici; and

(4) preparing for the full DVPO hearing. A domestic violence victim or her abuser may or may not decide to file a family law action at this stage as well; the decision to legally separate or file for dissolution or custody is undeniably complicated by financial stability, emotional cost, and other personal factors. In the fourteen days between issuance of a temporary domestic violence order and the full hearing for a final DVPO, domestic violence victims and their families experience significant life changes, usually without financial or emotional support.

The petitioner returns to the courthouse to obtain a full protection order after a full hearing, which gives the respondent an opportunity to be heard as well.¹⁰ Upon meeting the burden of proof at the full hearing, the victim is entitled to all the protections under the law: namely, a final DVPO, or “full order for protection,” which lasts for one year.¹¹

2. The Domestic Violence Protection Act Is Specifically Designed to Prevent Domestic Violence

To address the unique hurdles faced by domestic violence victims and children, a DVPO differs from other forms of court orders for protection.¹²

¹⁰ RCW 26.50.070(4).

¹² Compare RCW 26.50.060 (DVPO) with RCW 9A.46 (harassment no-contact order) and RCW 10.99 (domestic violence no-contact order).

First, the DVPA specifically tells courts to issue DVPOs independent of any other legal proceedings: “[a] petition for relief may be made regardless of whether or not there is a pending lawsuit, complaint, petition, or other action between the parties[.]” RCW 26.50.030(2) (emphasis added). Thus, upon meeting her burden, a petitioner should receive a DVPO— regardless of whether she has filed for dissolution or if a criminal case is pending against the respondent.

Many types of orders for protection are tied to other proceedings. For instance, a harassment no-contact order and a domestic violence no-contact order both require pending criminal charges against the respondent.¹³ Such orders are neither initiated nor controlled by the survivor, but the prosecutor. A domestic relations restraining order can only be given in the context of a family law proceeding (dissolution, legal separation, or parentage) and requires a $200 filing fee.¹⁴ Because they are tied to other proceedings, the duration of these orders are necessarily dependent on the associated proceeding. For example, courts may issue a pretrial harassment no-contact order once criminal charges are pending or filed, and the order remains in place for the duration of the criminal case.¹⁵ Upon conviction, a harassment no-contact order may be part of any sentence.¹⁶ By contrast, due to the complicated and uniquely volatile nature of domestic violence relationships, DVPOs are intentionally independent from any other proceedings. DVPOs can remain in force for a full year, regardless of anything else.¹⁷ The statute is unambiguous. A petitioner should be able to obtain a DVPO upon meeting her burden of proof; unlike other forms of protection orders, that is all that is required.

¹³ RCW 9A.46 (harassment no-contact order); RCW 10.99 (domestic violence no-contact order).

¹⁴ RCW 26.09.050.

Second, the relief available through a DVPO is intentionally limited in scope. Through a DVPO, a commissioner can only prohibit contact, grant temporary custody, grant possession of essential items, order domestic violence treatment, and remove the respondent from a shared residence.¹⁸ On the other hand, a family law judge may address many issues through a domestic relations restraining order, including resolving property disputes, granting ongoing child or spousal support, and establishing a permanent parenting plan.¹⁹ DVPO's are only available against family or household member, while no-contact and civil anti-harassment orders can be sought when the parties did not previously know each other.²⁰

II. Judicial Officers Are Misinterpreting and Misapplying the DVPA

Instead of the straightforward process for protection that the legislature envisioned, judges and commissioners across Washington State are misinterpreting and misapplying the statute in two main ways: first, by granting DVPOs for less than the full year, and second, by linking final DVPOs to other legal proceedings. This misapplication increases the risk of physical danger and pressures the domestic violence victim to begin a family law case on the court's timetable—rather than her own.

1. Courts are Erroneously Granting DVPOs for Less Than One Full Year

Despite the plain language of the statute and state forms, commissioners are granting final DVPOs for less than one year. Volunteer lawyers from the amici organizations are seeing this trend even where commissioners make a finding that domestic violence has occurred.

¹⁹ http://www.courts.wa.gov/dv/?fa=dv_order.ordtypes (last accessed on Nov. 6, 2014).

For example, in a case involving two children under the age of six, that respondent locked the petitioner in a shed, cut her hand using a pair of household scissors, bit her through the skin so that she needed preventative tetanus and staph infection treatments, threatened to kill her and burn “everything down,” and monitored her cell phone. The commissioner granted the survivor a “full” DVPO—that lasted exactly 7 days.²¹ In another case where the respondent broke the petitioner’s teeth and Child Protective Services concluded the parties’ child was abused, a commissioner granted the DVPO for the petitioner but not the child, and crossed out “one year” from the form and wrote in “30 days.”²² Yet another commissioner held: “The court has found by a preponderance that issuance of this order is allowed” but only granted the final DVPO for five months and ten days.²³

In yet another misapplication of the statute, amici organizations are witnessing judicial officers finding no domestic violence but still issuing or reissuing DVPOs so that the parties can file a family law case.²⁴ In cases where judicial officers find no domestic violence, the petitioner has not met her burden

²¹ Appendix 6-11 (Benton County Superior Court Cause No. 13-3-00031-9).

²² Appendix 158-73 (Wahkiakum County Cause No. 12-2-00062-9).

and the commissioner should deny and dismiss the case—not issue a DVPO for less than the full year.

Judicial officers may be misapplying the DVPA in an attempt to minimize conflicting orders (i.e., a criminal no-contact order and a DVPO). However, when courts rely on other proceedings to provide protection orders that a survivor needs, the survivor is left unprotected. For instance, if a commissioner refuses to issue a full DVPO and instead reissues a temporary order for twenty-one days because in twenty-one days the family court will also have jurisdiction, the commissioner is risking that the family court will not enter a domestic relations restraining order (or a restraining order that is insufficient, or a harassment no-contact order that expires, etc.)—which leaves the victim vulnerable and without recourse.²⁵

2. The DVPA Does Not Require Petitioners Also File in Family Court

Instead of issuing DVPOs that are independent, as the statutory language requires, judicial officers are instead punting significant decisions, primarily in regard to custody and visitation, to the family law courts even when the petitioner has met her burden. For example, one commissioner dismissed the full DVPO petition, re-issued a temporary protection order that expired in less than a month, and transferred the case to family court by setting a hearing “on Domestic ²⁵ See Appendix 62 (King County Cause No. 14-2-01562-3), 120 (Pierce County Cause No. 14-2-01586-6 (“There is currently a family law restraining order that addresses the petitioners [sic] concerns for protection.”)).

Docket.”²⁶ By issuing a short DVPO, the judicial officer is denying the petitioner all protections available to her and forcing her to rely on a family law restraining order that carries much less protection.

Another set of judicial officers are, instead of granting full DVPOs upon a showing of domestic violence, inexplicably reissuing temporary orders and instructing the petitioner to take action in family law court. Commissioners are requiring petitioners to file for dissolution,²⁷ to initiate a parenting plan,²⁸ to initiate a parentage action,²⁹ or to enter a restraining order in an existing family law case.³⁰ Courts are not permitted to withhold relief under the DVPA in exchange for taking action in family court.³¹

Other commissioners are issuing final DVPOs, but setting them to expire upon entry of another type of protection order (such as a restraining order, which is not, as discussed above, suitable for preventing domestic violence).³² This is wholly inappropriate, for all the same reasons.

In other cases, commissioners are issuing DVPOs that are a hybrid of all of the above or something else entirely, as is the situation in this case. For instance, one court issued a full one year DVPO but custody and visitation expired after three months, forcing the petitioner to seek relief in family court.³³ Another court granted a full DVPO but only for a month—and in the same order acknowledged that the respondent had serious drug and alcohol problems by ordering an evaluation “with follow through of recommendations,” and further “ordered [the parties] to file Petition for Residential Schedule and Parenting Plan.”³⁴ A commissioner denied DVPO protections to the parties’ children, because “[t]hose same protections are currently in place” in a different cause of action.³⁵ Similarly, the Leavitt court found a clear need for an ongoing protection order but issued a DVPO for just two months, because “in a divorce proceeding with children like this, is, you are going to need to work it out.” Leavitt v. Leavitt, Opening Br. of Appellant Brandy Leavitt at 5 (citing Verbatim Report of Proceedings, 1:18-19, 2:13-15).

County-wide policies are exacerbating judicial officer confusion on applying the DVPA. For example, in Pierce County, the judicial officers typically deny a DVPO, regardless of the evidence, and defer to the family law case between the parties.³⁶ Furthermore, Pierce County has created its own “form,” deviating from the mandatory state-wide forms and orders, that does not include any findings of facts or conclusions of law.³⁷ (WPF DV 6.020.) This prevents domestic violence victims from being able to seek domestic violence related protections.

³⁷ See Appendix 81-89, 116-119, 121-22 (Pierce County Cause Nos. 14-2-00246-2, 14-2-00529-1, 14-2-01256-5, 14-2-01454-1, 14-2-01502-5, 14-2-01505-0, 14-2-01630-7, and 14-2-01873-3 (orders dismissing DVPO petitions “due to pending Family Law action”), and 14-2-00005-2 (order dismissing DVPO petition because “mutual orders in legal separation”)).

In Spokane, the court has adopted a policy that it “will not enter a parenting plan or residential schedule in a DV action” ever, at all.³⁸ As a result, Spokane judicial officers are actively not granting DVPOs.³⁹

There is no justification for this misapplication. When a judicial officer finds domestic violence but refuses to enter a full DVPO and requires a petitioner to begin a proceeding in family court, the judicial officer is not minimizing confusion but in fact increasing it—while endangering the lives of the petitioner and any children.

These actions are in error and in direct defiance of the DVPA. When a petitioner meets the burden of proof for a final DVPO, she is entitled to full protection under the law. Protection orders are—and should be—independent of any other proceedings.

CONCLUSION

The Washington courts’ trend of misinterpreting and misapplying the DVPA is in error. Under the statutory language itself, full domestic violence protection orders should be in place for a full year and issued regardless of any

APPENDIX

Harassment No-Contact Order Criminal Order RCW 9A.46
Who May Obtain?	A person who has reported to the police an incident involving harassment as defined in RCW 9A.46.060. (Criminal charges must be pending or filed. May be a condition of sentencing.)
What Can an Order Do?	Refrain from contacting, intimidating or threatening the victim and others listed in the order; order the abuser to stay away from specific locations. Protects the victim in an active case while waiting for trial and sentencing. The order can also be a condition of sentence.
How is an Order Obtained?	A crime must first be reported to the police. If the abuser has been arrested or issued a citation, the victim may ask the prosecutor to request a no-contact order. The order may be obtained in district, municipal or superior court.
What is the Cost?	No cost.
How is an Order Modified or Terminated?	The no-contact order terminates upon the expiration date listed in the order. The order may be modified or terminated by the court before the expiration date. The victim may contact the prosecuting attorney to ask the attorney to file the motion for modification or termination of the order. The defendant or his or her attorney may file the motion.
What Happens if the Order is Knowingly Violated?	Mandatory arrest.

Legal Protection From Domestic Violence, Harassment, or Abuse

Information on Court Orders

If you have a court order, it is important to remember:

1. Keep a certified copy of your order with you at all times.
2. The order is enforceable throughout the state of Washington.
3. If there is a violation of your court order, call 9-1-1 or your local police. Tell them you have a court order and it is being violated.

Whether or not you have a court order, if you are being harassed, threatened, or assaulted, call 9-1-1, or your local police!!

Domestic Violence Order for Protection RCW 26.50
Who May Obtain?	Any person who is a victim of domestic violence or fears violence by a "family or household member." (Spouses, former spouses, persons with a child in common, adult persons who are related or who reside(d) together and persons 13 years or older who dated/is dating a respondent 16 or older. Minors aged 13 – 15 with/by a parent, guardian, guardian ad litem, next friend.) Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) may petition on behalf and with the consent of a vulnerable adult.
What Can an Order Do?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Prohibit contact of any kind, including cyber stalking. • Remove abuser from shared residence and prohibit from entering. • Give temporary custody of children and set visitation schedule. • Grant essential possessions (e.g., vehicle, medicine, pets). • Order abuser into treatment/counseling. • Be tailored to individual needs.
How is an Order Obtained?	An order can be obtained in district, municipal, or superior court. The person completes paperwork which the court reviews. The court will grant or deny a temporary emergency order effective for up to 14 days. The petitioner arranges for the other party to be served with the petition, notice of hearing and temporary order. A hearing is scheduled within 2 weeks at which time the court may deny the petition or grant a full order effective for up to one year or more. The hearing may be by telephone in special circumstances. Forms and instructions are provided by the Clerk's Office.
What is the Cost?	No Cost.
How is an Order Modified or Terminated?	While the order is in effect, either party may file a motion to modify (change) or terminate (end) the protection order and arrange to serve the other party with the motion and the notice of hearing. At the hearing the court may modify or terminate the order for protection. An emergency order terminates after 14 days or the date of the hearing, whichever occurs earliest. The full order for protection terminates after the ending effective date listed on the order. If the petitioner does not want an order to terminate after the effective date on the order, the petitioner may file a petition for renewal of the order for protection and arrange to serve the other party with the motion and notice of hearing. At hearing, the court may grant the motion and enter a new protection order, or deny the motion.
What Happens if the Order is Knowingly Violated?	Mandatory arrest if abuser violates "restrain" provisions or enters a residence where prohibited from entering. Possible criminal or contempt charges.

Domestic Violence No-Contact Order Criminal Order RCW 10.99
	A person who has reported to the police an incident involving domestic violence as defined in RCW 10.99.020. Criminal charges must be pending or filed. May be a condition of sentencing.
	Prohibit contact of any kind; prohibit the abuser from knowingly coming within or staying within a specific distance of a location. Protects the victim in an active case while waiting for trial and sentencing. The order can also be a condition of sentence and effective up to the statutory maximum sentence and/or until probation is concluded.
	A crime must first be reported to the police. If the abuser has been arrested or issued a citation, the victim may ask the prosecutor to request a no-contact order. The prosecutor may ask the court for a protection order regardless of the victim's wishes. The order may be obtained in district, municipal or superior court. (In some jurisdictions, orders are issued via the police or jail.)
	No cost.
	The no-contact order terminates upon the expiration date listed in the order, or upon dismissal of the charges, or upon a not guilty verdict. The order may be modified or terminated by the court before the expiration date. The victim may contact the prosecuting attorney to ask the attorney to file the motion for modification or termination of the order. The defendant or his or her attorney may file the motion.
	Mandatory arrest.

Foreign Protection Order RCW 26.52
Who May Obtain?	A protected person who has a valid civil or criminal protection order issued by a court in a foreign state, territory, possession, tribe or United States military tribunal may file the order in Washington State.
What Can an Order Do?	Provide the protection ordered by the original court in the foreign protection order. The foreign protection order is enforceable in Washington State even if the order is not filed in the court or entered in law enforcement's computer-based information system.
How is an Order Obtained?	A person may file a valid foreign protection order by presenting a certified, authenticated or exemplified copy of the protection order to the clerk of the court where the protected person resides or where the person entitled to protection believes enforcement may be necessary. The person must file a Foreign Protection Order Information form with the order. The information form is provided by the clerk's office. A clerk may provide the protected person assistance in filling out the information form. The clerk will give the protected person a copy of the order showing proof that it was filed.
What is the Cost?	No cost.
How is an Order Modified or Terminated?	The foreign protection order terminates upon the expiration date listed in the order. The order may be modified or terminated before the expiration date according to the laws of the jurisdiction that issued the order. Disputes about child custody, residential placement or visitation provisions shall be resolved judicially. Venue and jurisdiction is determined by the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act and the Parental Kidnapping Prevention Act. A Writ of Habeas Corpus is needed before law enforcement can remove a child from current placement, unless the child is abused or neglected.
What Happens if the Order is Knowingly Violated?	Mandatory arrest if abuser violates "restraint" provisions or enters a residence where prohibited from entering. Possible criminal or contempt charges.

Antiharassment Order for Protection RCW 10.14
Persons who are seriously alarmed, annoyed, or harassed by conduct which serves no legitimate or lawful purpose. Person may or may not have a relationship with the person harassing them. Parents may petition on behalf of a child against an adult or, in some circumstances, against a minor.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Prohibit harassment and contact of any kind. Restrain party from coming within a specific distance from petitioner's work place, school, residence, etc.
Generally, you must file your case in district court. However you must file your case in superior court if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the respondent is under age 18; the case would interfere with the respondent's care, control or custody of respondent's minor children; the case involves disputes over title, ownership or possession of real property, such as landlord-tenant or boundary dispute; or the superior court is exercising or has exercised jurisdiction over proceedings involving the parties. The court may grant or deny a temporary emergency order effective for up to 14 days. The other party is served with the petition, notice of hearing and temporary order. A hearing is held within 14 days at which time the court may deny the petition or grant an order effective for up to one year. Forms and instructions are provided by the clerk's office. Filing fees vary. Additional costs can include copy, service, and local surcharge fees. Fees may be waived if you cannot pay or if you seek protection from domestic violence, sexual assault or stalking. Petitioner may be required to pay minor respondent's guardian ad litem fees. While the order is in effect, either party may file a motion to modify (change) or terminate (end) the protection order. The other party is served with the motion and the notice of hearing. At the hearing the court may modify or terminate the order for protection. An emergency order terminates after 14 days or on the date of the hearing. The full order for protection terminates after the expiration date listed on the order. If the petitioner does not want an order to terminate after the effective date on the order, the petitioner may file a petition for renewal of the order for protection. The other party is served the motion and notice of hearing. At hearing, the court may grant the motion, and enter a new protection order, or deny the motion. Violator may be arrested. Possible criminal or contempt charges.

Abused Child Restraining Order RCW 26.44.063
Who May Obtain?	In any judicial proceeding in which it is alleged a child has been subjected to sexual or physical abuse, the court may, on its own motion, or on the motion of the guardian ad litem or any party, enter a restraining order protecting the child.
What Can an Order Do?	Prohibit contact with the child without specific court approval; restrain from molesting or disturbing the peace of the child; restrain from entering the child's home without specific court approval; restrain from knowingly coming within or remaining within a specified distance of a specified location.
How is an Order Obtained?	In the Superior Court Juvenile Department, a party or the guardian ad litem makes a request to the court for issuance of an order, or the court may issue an order on its own. The order may be obtained regardless of the victim's wishes.
What is the Cost?	No cost. Order is usually requested by DSHS.
How is an Order Modified or Terminated?	The order may be modified or terminated by the court upon motion by any party or the guardian ad litem.
What Happens if the Order is Knowingly Violated?	Mandatory arrest if restraint and exclusion provisions are violated and legend is on order. Possible criminal or contempt charges.

Domestic Relations Restraining Order RCW 26.09, 26.10, 26.26
	Married persons filing for divorce, legal separation or declaration concerning validity, persons with a child in common who are filing to determine parentage, or persons seeking custody of a child. To qualify, a person does not need to have experienced assault or threats of violence.
	Refrain from disturbing the peace, harming, molesting, assaulting or stalking; refrain from going onto the grounds of or entering a specified location; knowingly coming within or remaining within a specified distance from a specified location; may also order child support, order maintenance income, assign property to either party, establish permanent child custody, establish a residential schedule or use of family home.
	Can be obtained in superior court as part of a family law action such as a divorce, legal separation, declaration concerning validity, paternity determination or third party custody. An emergency restraining order can be filed at the time of a civil petition and signed by the judge effective until the preliminary hearing when a temporary order may be entered. The court may enter a continuing restraining order with the decree. Many persons hire attorneys to represent them. The county prosecutor, when involved in paternity actions, may request a restraining order on behalf of the child.
	Filing fee is $200.00 (plus possible surcharges) but may be waived. Additional costs can include copy, service and attorney fees.
	Before the decree is entered, either party may file a motion for temporary order to modify or terminate a temporary restraining order. The other party is served with the motion and notice of hearing. At the hearing, the court will deny the motion, enter a modified temporary restraining order or terminate the order. After the continuing restraining order is entered with the decree, a party may file a petition for modification to ask the court to modify or terminate the continuing restraining order. A filing fee applies. The other party is served with the petition for modification and notice of hearing. At the hearing, the court will deny the petition or grant the petition and enter an order modifying or terminating the restraining order. Forms are not available to petition for a modification of a continuing restraining order. A temporary restraining order terminates when the final decree is entered. A continuing restraining order terminates upon the expiration date listed in the decree.
	Mandatory arrest if abuser violates "restraint" provisions or enters a residence where prohibited from entering. Possible criminal or contempt charges.

"Domestic violence" means physical harm, bodily injury, assault, including sexual assault, stalking, Or inflicting fear of imminent physical harm, bodily injury or assault between family or household members.

Statement: The respondent has committed acts of domestic violence as follows. (Describe specific acts of domestic violence and their approximate dates, beginning with the most recent act. You may want to include police responses.)

Describe the most recent incident or threat of violence and date: December
On Dec 16th, the day [redacted] moved out, he shoved me into the shed (I was standing in the doorway) and closed and locked the door, left the yard with me locked in, pounding on the door to be released. On January 11th after he had already moved out, he forced his way inside my home w/o my permission, and told me he would make me "Crawl in a hole and die" in front of my son. Between December 1st - 15th there was twice he slapped me across the face. On December 3rd he bit my hand that was holding a glass of egg nog he wanted to drink, which swelled up and bruised the tissue and tendons. The next day he hit me with a cup repeatedly and then cut me with a pair of scissors during an argument. He cut my open hand on the side by my pinky finger. Since July there has been countless times where he hit me, kicked me, threw things at me, shoved me and called me vulgar names, usually saying he was "just playing" or "messing around", usually done casually or publicly, and often in front of my children.

Describe the past incidents where you experienced violence, where you were afraid of injury or where the respondent threatened to harm or kill you: In late July he started telling me he was having dreams about hurting me. He said he just wanted to hurt someone all the time. He said he had been dreaming of burning everything down. I left to my sisters house for 2 weeks to hope he would calm down, and asked him to take the guns out of the house, which he refused. I started secretly calling the national domestic violence hotline, and made safety plans in case I needed to evacuate immediately. Around September, when we had ended the relationship but were still cohabitating, he told me the children and I would be so much better off if he were dead or gone. He continued to physically hurt me and verbally abuse me, as always, but the premise of it being a 'joke' or 'playing' eroded away.

Describe any violence or threats towards children: He has never abused the children or directly threatened to harm them.

Describe any stalking behavior by respondent, including use of telephonic, audiovisual or electronic means to harass or monitor: He came into my home on the 5th, to pick up the kids for a visit and pick up things he left behind. While I waited outside his friend took my cell phone from inside my house, saying they wanted it back. I begged his friend to let me wipe my personal information, which he allowed, but then they took it and kept it to monitor.

Describe medical treatment you received and for what: on December 4th -

He still has my cell is monitoring and has intercepted calls from

 COPY

I went to the Kania Clinic to have the bite treated. I received a tetanus shot because it broke the skin, and medication for Prevention of staph infection and pain and swelling.

Describe any threats of suicide or suicidal behavior by the respondent: Always vague references to how much better off we would be without him alive, never direct threats or plans.

Does the respondent own or possess firearms? ☒ Yes ☐ No

Does the respondent use firearms, weapons or objects to threaten or harm you? Please describe:

He has never threatened me with the guns directly. He said if I "pissed people off" I would "get fucked." but never directly implied gun violence. He has often hurt me with household objects.

Other: He has a very violent history. He has bragged about times he has beaten people he didn't like, committed arson, and slashed tires. He has a small arsenal. He is being charged for domestic violence assault by the state.

(Continue on separate page if necessary.)

Check box if substance abuse is involved: ☐ alcohol ☐ drugs ☐ other

☐ Personal service cannot be made upon respondent within the state of Washington.

I certify under penalty of perjury under the laws of the state of Washington that the foregoing is true and correct.

3 THE COURT: NOW, [REDACTED] 1-23-12 Up here, please.
4 Young lady, if you will have a seat over here,
5 please. Sir, if you will have a seat here. Now, if I
6 can get you both to raise your right hand, please.
7 Stand and raise your right hand, please. Thank you.

8 [REDACTED],
9 a witness herein, being first duly sworn, testified as
10 follows:

11 [REDACTED],
12 a witness herein, being first duly sworn, testified as
13 follows:

14 THE COURT: Now, for the record, you are Nichole
15 Ross; is that correct?

16 MS. [REDACTED]: Yes, sir.

17 THE COURT: And what is, or was, your relationship
18 with [REDACTED]?

19 MS. [REDACTED]: He is my husband.

20 THE COURT: Could you speak up, please?

21 MS. [REDACTED]: He is my husband.

22 THE COURT: You are asking for an order of 23 protection; is that correct?

24 MS. [REDACTED]: Yes. Correct.

25 THE COURT: Are there any other matters, such as a
JANUARY 23, 2012

1 divorce or anything of that nature going?

2 MS. [REDACTED]: I was just handed a parenting plan by his
3 mother in this courtroom.

4 THE COURT: I can't hear you.

5 MS. [REDACTED]: I was just handed a parenting plan by his
6 mother in this courtroom. Other than that, no.

1-23-12

7 THE COURT: I am asking you, have you filed any
8 divorce papers or anything of that nature?

9 MS. [REDACTED]: No.

10 THE COURT: Now, you are asking for an order of 11 protection; why do you need an order of protection?

12 MS. [REDACTED]: I fear for my life every day.

13 THE COURT: Have there been instances of domestic 14 violence in the past?

15 MS. [REDACTED]: Yes, he has.

16 THE COURT: When was the last incident?

17 MS. [REDACTED]: The last incident was, we had gotten into 18 a fight at the grocery store, and he had asked me for 19 my cell phone. I told him no, and he grabbed my wrist
20 and I went to go pull away and he grabbed my cell phone
21 and left.

22 THE COURT: When was this?

23 MS. [REDACTED]: The fifth of January.

24 THE COURT: Of this year?

25 MS. [REDACTED]: Mm-hmm.

JANUARY 23, 2012

1 THE COURT: Has there been other instances of
2 domestic violence?

3 MS. [REDACTED]: Yes. We had gotten into a fight one day
4 last summer. I went to go past him and he had grabbed
5 my wrist and shoved me back on the bed, as a result my 6 thumbs went into my mouth and he spilt my lip and my 7 gums bled.

8 THE COURT: You are married to Mr. [REDACTED]; is that
9 correct?

APPENDIX 20

10 MS. [REDACTED]: Yes. 1-23-12
11 THE COURT: When were you married?
12 MS. [REDACTED]: We were married in 2007, September, 2007.
13 THE COURT: Are there minor children involved.
14 MS. [REDACTED]: I was pregnant, but no.
15 THE COURT: Do you have minor children?
16 MS. [REDACTED]: Yes, I do.
17 THE COURT: Names and ages please.
18 MS. [REDACTED]: [REDACTED], three, and [REDACTED], 12
19 months.
20 THE COURT: You are [REDACTED]; is that
21 correct?
22 MR. [REDACTED]: Yes, sir.
23 THE COURT: Mr. [REDACTED], she is asking for an order of 24 protection, and you say that you do not wish to have
25 one entered. Do you have a dissolution proceeding

1 going on, anything of that nature, sir?
2 MR. [REDACTED]: Excuse me? I don't understand.
3 THE COURT: Have you filed for a divorce or anything
4 of that nature?
5 MR. [REDACTED]: I filed for a legal separation and a
6 parenting plan.
7 THE COURT: When did you do that?
8 MR. [REDACTED]: Just a matter of a few days ago. I don't
9 remember the exact date. Last Friday.
10 THE COURT: Do you have any pending court hearings
11 regarding that matter?
12 MR. [REDACTED]: Not yet.
13 THE COURT: She has indicated there have been

1-23-12

14 instances of domestic violence; what is your position?

15 MR. [REDACTED]: I disagree. They are not true. In the 16 past she has lied on the restraining order. She had 17 admitted to the court she lied. Every time we have an 18 instance like this, it's always been people involved
19 such as a family member who has caused issues in our 20 household before.

21 THE COURT: When was this restraining order issued?

22 MR. [REDACTED]: I think -- I'm not sure.

23 THE COURT: And what county was that?

24 MR. [REDACTED]: This county .Grays Harbor County.

25 THE COURT: Have there been any other proceedings in

1 this matter.

2 MR. [REDACTED]: Not with me and her no. I got one on her
3 mother who was living with us at. That's all we have 4 had.

5 THE COURT: Thank you.

6 what I am to do in this matter, and I am going to
7 issue a temporary restraining order -- domestic order
8 for one week. You both will be required to be back
9 here. I am asking the clerk to make certain that the 10 file involved is brought forward. You will give her
11 the names so that we have the proper file, sir.

12 In the mean time, neither one of you will bother nor 13 harass the other one. There will be no contact of any 14 nature whatsoever.

15 Now, I understand at this point you are going to be
16 the most inconvenienced parent at this point, because I

17 [REDACTED] 1-23-12
18 am not going to allow any contact with the children
19 until we discuss this next week. You have paper work,
20 sir, if you intend on proceeding with anything --

21 MR. [REDACTED]: No, sir --

22 THE COURT: I am not asking questions. I am
23 talking, please. If you wish to proceed with any other
24 legal proceedings or any one you wish to proceed with 25 legal proceedings, get your paper work filed, get your request for records and your court hearings, and let's

THE COURT: [REDACTED]?

Miss Bernard, you are involved in this?

MS. BERNARD: I am putting in a notice of appearance in this case, that is either a legal separation or a dissolution, I am not sure which. There is TANF regarding the children, so I need to be involved in the dissolution or legal separation. I can't tell which it is.

THE COURT: You have filed your paper work in this matter is that correct.

MR. [REDACTED]: Yes.

THE COURT: You received a copy; is that correct young lady?

MS. [REDACTED]: Yes.

THE COURT: When is your court hearing in this parenting plan.

MR. [REDACTED]: I do not know yet.

THE COURT: Now, have there been any problems this week?

MR. [REDACTED]: No, sir.

MS. [REDACTED]: No. Nope.

1-23-12
24 THE COURT: I am going to continue this for another
25 two weeks. You need a make a motion to have -- I am
JANUARY 30, 2012

1 going to get to you. You got to make a motion to get a
2 temporary parenting plan. You don't just file it. You
3 get a court day, and you can get there and we can have
4 a hearing, we can take testimony and we can find out
5 whether there needs to be restrictions put on either
6 one.

7 Now, what do you got there?

8 MS. [REDACTED]: I have a summons, dissolution of marriage
9 and a parenting plan.

10 THE COURT: would you give it to the lady so I can 11 see what you are talking about, please?

12 Now, I can't be the lawyer for either one of you,
13 but you filed one and he has filed one. It doesn't 14 matter. Now we are sitting here with two of these 15 ~~things, which makes our work harder because what will~~
16 happen, we will consolidate it, then we will hear it.
17 You need to make a motion -- you know, let's use some 18 brains here and make it easier on both of you, and then
19 make it easier on the judge. You know, could you two 20 even talk.

21 MR. [REDACTED]: I don't have a problem with that.

22 THE COURT: Can you talk?

23 MS. [REDACTED]: I have a problem with it.

24 THE COURT: You can't sit down in a room and talk?

25 MS. [REDACTED]: No. No, I can't. Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: Well, you are going to have a problem in
2 a courtroom. When people can't sit down and talk,
3 that's a problem.

4 MR. [REDACTED]: Your Honor --

5 THE COURT: I am not answering any more, young man,
6 don't interrupt me. You need to make a motion for a
7 temporary parenting plan. And then you serve it on the 8 other one. And if you want to do it, you go right
9 ahead, so you can irritate the judge, both of you,
10 instead of sitting down. One of you file a motion,
11 give the other one a copy, and ask to have the cases
12 consolidated. Make it easy on the judge. The judge
13 will order a hearing, he will listen to what you have 14 to say under oath, and your witnesses, you and your 15 witnesses, and he is going to make a ruling. And he is 16 going to ask you to act like mature adults. And I am
17 kind of getting the drift, one of you is, one of you
18 isn't. So, make your motion. Domestic violence is 19 dismissed. Thank you. Goodbye.

Warnings to Respondent: A violation of provisions 1 through 5 of this order with actual notice of its terms is a criminal offense under chapter 26.50 RCW and will subject you to arrest. If the violation of the protection order involves travel across a state line or the boundary of a tribal jurisdiction, or involves conduct within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States, which includes tribal lands, you may be subject to criminal prosecution in federal court under 18 U.S.C. § 2261, 2261A, or 2262.

A violation of provisions 1 through 5 of this order is a gross misdemeanor unless one of the following conditions apply: Any assault that is a violation of this order and that does not amount to assault in the first degree or second degree under RCW 9A.36.011 or 9A.36.021 is a class C felony. Any conduct in violation of this order that is reckless and creates a substantial risk of death or serious physical injury to another person is a class C felony. Also, a violation of this order is a class C felony if you have at least two previous convictions for violating a protection order issued under Titles 7, 10, 26 or 74 RCW.

If the court issues a final protection order, and your relationship to the petitioner is that of spouse or former spouse, parent of a common child, or former or current cohabitant as intimate partner, including a current or former registered domestic partner, you may not possess a firearm or ammunition for as long as that final protection order is in effect. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(8). A violation of this federal firearms law carries a maximum possible penalty of 10 years in prison and a $250,000 fine. An exception exists for law enforcement officers and military personnel when carrying department/government issued firearms. 18 U.S.C. § 925(a)(1). If you are convicted of an offense of domestic violence, you will be forbidden for life from possessing a firearm or ammunition.

18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(9); RCW 9A.1.040.

You Can Be Arrested Even if the Person or Persons Who Obtained the Order Invite or Allow You to Violate the Order's Prohibitions. You have the sole responsibility to avoid or refrain from violating the order's provisions. Only the court can change the order upon written application.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2265, a court in any of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, any United States territory, and any tribal land within the United States shall accord full faith and credit to the order.

The respondent is directed to appear and show cause why this temporary order should not be made effective for one year or more and why the court should not order the relief requested by the petitioner or other relief which may include electronic monitoring, payment of costs, and treatment. Failure to Appear at the Hearing May Result in the Court Granting Such Relief. The Next Hearing Date is Shown on Page One.

Warnings to Respondent: A violation of provisions 1 through 6 of this order with actual notice of its terms is a criminal offense under chapter 26.50 RCW and will subject you to arrest. If the violation of the protection order involves travel across a state line or the boundary of a tribal jurisdiction, or involves conduct within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States, which includes tribal lands, you may be subject to criminal prosecution in federal court under 18 U.S.C. § 2261, 2261A, or 2262.

A violation of provisions 1 through 6 of this order is a gross misdemeanor unless one of the following conditions apply: Any assault that is a violation of this order and that does not amount to assault in the first degree or second degree under RCW 9A.36.011 or 9A.36.021 is a class C felony. Any conduct in violation of this order that is reckless and creates a substantial risk of death or serious physical injury to another person is a class C felony. Also, a violation of this order is a class C felony if you have at least two previous convictions for violating a protection order issued under Titles 7, 10, 26 or 74 RCW.

If the court issues a final protection order, and your relationship to the petitioner is that of spouse or former spouse, parent of a common child, or former or current cohabitant intimate partner, including a current or former registered domestic partner, you may not possess a firearm or ammunition for as long as that final protection order is in effect. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(8). A violation of this federal firearms law carries a maximum possible penalty of 10 years in prison and a $250,000 fine. An exception exists for law enforcement officers and military personnel when carrying department/government-issued firearms. 18 U.S.C. § 925(a)(1). If you are convicted of an offense of domestic violence, you will be forbidden for life from possessing a firearm or ammunition. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(9); RCW 9A.10.040.

You Can Be Arrested Even if the Person or Persons Who Obtained the Order Invite or Allow You to Violate the Order's Prohibitions. You have the sole responsibility to avoid or refrain from violating the order's provisions. Only the court can change the order upon written application.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2265, a court in any of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, any United States territory, and any tribal land within the United States shall accord full faith and credit to the order.

The Next Hearing Date Is Shown on Page One.

Warnings to Respondent: A violation of provisions 1 through 6 of this order with actual notice of its terms is a criminal offense under chapter 26.50 RCW and will subject you to arrest. If the violation of the protection order involves travel across a state line or the boundary of a tribal jurisdiction, or involves conduct within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States, which includes tribal lands, you may be subject to criminal prosecution in federal court under 18 U.S.C. § 2261, 2261A, or 2262.

A violation of provisions 1 through 6 of this order is a gross misdemeanor unless one of the following conditions apply: Any assault that is a violation of this order and that does not amount to assault in the first degree or second degree under RCW 9A.36.011 or 9A.36.021 is a class C felony. Any conduct in violation of this order that is reckless and creates a substantial risk of death or serious physical injury to another person is a class C felony. Also, a violation of this order is a class C felony if you have at least two previous convictions for violating a protection order issued under Titles 7, 10, 26 or 74 RCW.

If the court issues a final protection order, and your relationship to the petitioner is that of spouse or former spouse, parent of a common child, or former or current cohabitant intimate partner, including a current or former registered domestic partner, you may not possess a firearm or ammunition for as long as that final protection order is in effect, 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(8). A violation of this federal firearms law carries a maximum possible penalty of 10 years in prison and a $250,000 fine. An exception exists for law enforcement officers and military personnel when carrying department/government issued firearms. 18 U.S.C. § 925(a)(1). If you are convicted of an offense of domestic violence, you will be forbidden for life from possessing a firearm or ammunition. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(9); RCW 9A.1.040.

You Can Be Arrested Even If the Person or Persons Who Obtained the Order Invite or Allow You to Violate the Order's Prohibitions. You have the sole responsibility to avoid or refrain from violating the order's provisions. Only the court can change the order upon written application.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2265, a court in any of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, any United States territory, and any tribal land within the United States shall accord full faith and credit to the order.

- ☐ A preponderance of the evidence has not established that there has been nonconsensual sexual contact or nonconsensual sexual penetration.
- ☐ A preponderance of the evidence has not established that there has been abandonment, abuse, neglect, or financial exploitation of an alleged vulnerable adult.
- ☐ For a temporary sexual assault protection order, reasons for denial of the order are:

- ☐ For Respondent's motion to modify or terminate a domestic violence Order for Protection effective longer than two years,
 - ☐ A preponderance of the evidence failed to establish that:
 - ☐ the modification is warranted.
 - ☐ for a modification to shorten the duration or remove restrictions against domestic violence acts or threats, or for termination, there has been a substantial change of circumstances such that the respondent is unlikely to resume acts of domestic violence against the petitioner or other persons protected in the order, to wit:
 - ☐ since the protection order was entered, the respondent ☐ has committed or threatened domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, or other violent acts; ☐ has exhibited suicidal ideation or attempts; ☐ has been convicted of criminal activity; ☐ neither acknowledged responsibility for the acts of domestic violence that resulted in entry of the protection order nor successfully completed domestic violence perpetrator treatment or counseling;
 - ☐ the respondent has continued to abuse drugs or alcohol, if such was a factor in the protection order.
 - ☐ the petitioner ☐ has ☐ has not voluntarily and knowingly consented to terminating the protection order
 - ☐ the respondent or petitioner moving further away from the other party will stop acts of domestic violence.
 - ☐ other: _____
 - ☐ the respondent proved that there has been a substantial change of circumstances; however, the court declines to terminate the Order for Protection because the acts of domestic violence that resulted in the issuance of the Order for Protection were of such severity that the order should not be terminated.

Also, a violation of this order is a class C felony if the Respondent has at least 2 previous convictions for violating a protection order issued under Titles 10, 26 or 74 RCW. If the respondent is convicted of an offense of domestic violence, the respondent will be forbidden for life from possessing a firearm or ammunition. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(9); RCW 9A.1.040.

YOU CAN BE ARRESTED EVEN IF THE PERSON OR PERSONS WHO OBTAINED THE ORDER INVITE OR ALLOW YOU TO VIOLATE THE ORDER'S PROHIBITIONS. You have the sole responsibility to avoid or refrain from violating the order's provisions. Only the court can change the order upon written application. Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2265, a court in any of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, any United States territory, and any tribal land within the United States shall accord full faith and credit to the order.

It is further ordered that the clerk of the court shall forward a copy of this order on or before the next judicial day to the appropriate Law Enforcement Agency Where Petitioner Lives which shall enter it in a computer-based criminal intelligence system available in this state used by law enforcement to list outstanding warrants.

☒ The clerk of the court shall also forward a copy of this order on or before the next judicial day to the appropriate Law Enforcement Agency WHERE THE RESPONDENT LIVES which shall personally serve the respondent with a copy of this order and order and shall promptly complete and return to this court proof of service.

☐ Petitioner shall serve this order by ☐ mail ☐ publication.

☐ Petitioner has made private arrangements for service of this order.

☐ Respondent appeared and was informed of the order by the court; further service is not required.

☐ The law enforcement agency where ☐ petitioner ☐ respondent lives shall:

☐ Assist petitioner in obtaining:

☐ Possession of petitioner's ☐ residence ☐ personal belongings located at: ☐ the shared residence

☐ respondent's residence ☐ other: _____

☐ Custody of the above-named minors, including taking physical custody for delivery to petitioner.

☐ Use of above designated vehicle.

☐ Other: _____

☒ Other: All protection from Petitioner's requests for additional restraints protecting the children are denied. Those same protections are currently in place. This Order is in Effect Until the Expiration Date on Page One.
If the duration of this order exceeds one year, the court finds that an order of one year or less will be insufficient to prevent further acts of domestic violence. Under cause # 11-3-01450-8 order dated 8/28/12

APPENDIX 90

1 MR. RUNDLE: Good afternoon.

2 THE COURT: All right. So we're here on case 14-3-
3 01303-1 (sic) and potentially 14-3-02141-0.

4 MR. RUNDLE: Yes. Thank you, Your Honor. Once again,
5 Kevin Rundle on behalf of [REDACTED]. Does the Court
6 wish to swear in the parties before I begin?

7 THE COURT: Yes. Raise your hands, please. Do you
8 swear or affirm that the testimony you're about to give be 9 the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth?

10 MR. [REDACTED]: Yes.

11 MS. [REDACTED]: Yes.

12 THE COURT: All right. Go ahead, Mr. Rundle.

13 MR. RUNDLE: Thank you, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Well, actually, it's introductions.

15 MS. CAMANDONA: Lindsay Camandona, appearing on behalf
16 of the Respondent, [REDACTED] who is to my right.

17 THE COURT: Thanks. All right.

18 DIRECT EXAMINATION

19 BY MR. RUNDLE:

20 Q: Thank you, Your Honor. Ms. [REDACTED], could you please
21 state your name for the record?

22 A: [REDACTED]

23 Q: Okay. And you are the Petitioner in this matter?

24 A: Yes.

25 Q: Are you asking the Court for a Domestic Violence Order

CATHERINE M. VERNON & ASSOCIATES, LLC
3641 North Pearl Street, Building D, Tacoma, WA 98407 - (253) 627-2062

1 of Protection?

2 A: Yes.

3 Q: Is it for the reasons set forth in your petition,
4 supporting declarations and documents?

5 A: Yes.

6 Q: Is the information retained in those documents true and 7 accurate?

8 A: Yes.

9 Q: Do you reaffirm the contents of those documents, as if 10 testified to today in full?

11 A: Yes.

12 Q: Is there anything else you wish to add?

13 A: Um, I would like to add that [REDACTED] has threatened to 14 kill me with a baseball bat, throw me down the stairs, make
15 it look like an accident if I should try to leave him --

16 Q: This all happened --

17 A: -- and/or take his child.

18 Q: Did this all happen on April 29th, as set forth in your 19 petition?

20 A: Um --

21 Q: You need to say yes or no.

22 A: Yes.

23 Q: Okay. Is there anything else you wish to add?

24 A: No.

25 Q: Okay. I'll reserve any further questions, Your Honor.

3641 North Pearl Street, Building D, Tacoma, WA 98407 - (253) 627-2062

1 THE COURT: Ms. Camandona?

2 MS. CAMANDONA: Thank you, Your Honor. Um, this is an
3 act by [REDACTED]. She's not the frail victim that she
4 would have the Court believe. She's threatened to take the 5 parties' daughter away from my client, and she's simply
6 following through on that threat. In the context of a
7 family law case, she would have to show by clear, cogent
8 and convincing evidence that the welfare of the child would 9 be best served from depriving my client from time with his 10 daughter.

11 But here, in the context of a Domestic Violence
12 Protection Order, my client's an easy target. And why is 13 that? Because he was convicted of felony DV against her in 14 2004, and he spent four months in jail for that. And 15 although [REDACTED] has felt remorse about this incident, she 16 has hung this over his head for the past ten years,
17 threatening to send him back to jail. She doesn't deny
18 that she's made threats to send him back to jail. She
19 says, "Well, I only did that one time."

20 Uh, her current request is trying to springboard off
21 of that 2004 incident. Her petition for the majority of it
22 references events that were in context with that incident.
23 And her declaration that she filed in reply to that, again,
24 go into detail about the 2004 incident. [REDACTED] doesn't
25 deny that that happened in 2004. But he does deny Ms.

CATHERINE M. VERNON & ASSOCIATES, LLC

3641 North Pearl Street, Building D, Tacoma, WA 98407 - (253) 627-2062

1 [REDACTED] allegations today.

2 She's not a stranger to the court system when it comes
3 to domestic violence. She's not afraid to call the police.
4 Yet at no time in the last ten years have the police been
5 called to the residence of these parties. She waited three
6 days after the most recent alleged incident occurred before
7 even filing a Petition for Domestic Violence Protection
8 Order. And during that time period, [REDACTED] was in and out
9 of the home, helping her make a key for the home so that
10 she could get back in, looking for the keys for her van.
11 No police were involved at any time.

12 Uh, my client claims that they got in an argument
13 about her keys being misplaced. And she accused him of 14 stealing them. Um, he denies the other allegations. He 15 denies threatening her with a bat, or threatening to throw
16 her down the stairs.

17 Um, one of the things that [REDACTED] alleges in her
18 petition is that [REDACTED] took her keys -- that she couldn't
19 find them. And this seems like a fairly innocuous
20 accusation to make, except for that if the Court looks at 21 the Probable Cause Statement from 2004 and compares it to 22 her petition now, there's a lot of similarities in those 23 documents.

24 Um, in the Probable Cause Statement, she states that -
25 - or the officer that made the statement stated that Mr.

1 [REDACTED] head-butted her, that he blocked her path to the front
2 door, um, that he hid her keys, purse and wallet and that
3 he broke her toe during this incident. Uh, her petition
4 that was filed in May says that not only did he threaten
5 her with a bat, um, he wouldn't let her leave the house
6 unless she was in a body bag. But that he head-butted her
7 in the past, blocked her way out of their room, had thrown
8 her on the bed and the floor, and had hid her keys and also
9 dislocated a thumb.

10 She's trying to make a claim here for false
11 imprisonment and mirror the claims that were made in 2004
12 in order to gain this order against my client.

13 She further states in her declaration today -- or the 14 reply declaration that it's undeniable that [REDACTED] is 15 capable of the violence described in her petition because 16 he was convicted of it in 2004. Again, this shows her
17 reliance on the 2004 incident because she doesn't have
18 enough in her petition for current allegations to get a
19 Domestic Violence Protection Order against him.

20 Even the collateral sources that were reviewed for her
21 Domestic Violence Victim's Assessment were all documents --
22 other than the petition, all of the documents were related
23 to the 2004 incident. And that's what the evaluator based 24 his review off of.

25 The Court's aware that an Order for Protection

1 requires a finding of domestic violence, as defined by the
2 statute. And a Domestic Violence Protection Order, based
3 on the alleged DV that caused neither bodily injury or 4 physical harm, nor the imminent fear of such harm, doesn't
5 meet the definition of domestic violence.

6 Her current allegations threatened that -- or stated
7 that he threatened to hit her with a bat, and engaged in
8 physical intimidation. However, she wasn't intimidated
9 enough to call the police, even though she knew that one
10 call to them would put him right back in jail immediately.

11 Again, this is an act. If she had been absolutely
12 petrified of him since the day that he went to jail in 13 2004, why didn't she move out of the house and run -- and 14 get away from him immediately? He was incarcerated for 15 four months during that time period. They didn't have 16 anything tying them together. They didn't have a child.
17 They didn't have a home. But instead, she chose to be at 18 his No-Contact Order hearing and testified on his behalf to 19 get that Order revoked.

20 In page two of her current declaration, she refers to 21 every time that he has ever pushed, or punched, or kicked,
22 or slapped her. But then on page six, she states that
23 since 2004, he has found other ways to control her and hurt
24 her without having to hit her. So she's not alleging any 25 physical violence at this point. She claims that he never

1 apologized to her for what happened in 2004, but if he
2 hadn't resumed -- hadn't assumed responsibility for what
3 happened, why would they then continue their relationship,
4 buy a house together, have a child together, uh, refinance
5 the home. And why would my client cosign on a loan for a
6 vehicle for her if he hadn't taken on full responsibility 7 for that?

8 And if the accusations in her petition were true, then
9 when did she not call the police immediately? My client's
10 a felon. If she called the police on him, they would have 11 taken him away immediately. She didn't do that. And she
12 waited three days to go to the Court and file a Petition
13 for Domestic Violence. And there's still no investigation
14 of this matter by the police to my knowledge.

15 The previous incidents that my client was involved in 16 -- there are two. There's a 2001 incident that involved
17 his wife, [REDACTED]. And 2004, which involved [REDACTED]
18 They both involved substance abuse. In 2001, my client was 19 using crystal meth. 2004, he tells the court that he -- he 20 was a drunk.

21 Um, [REDACTED] claims that this has absolutely no
22 bearing on [REDACTED] anger and violent tendencies. But all
23 of his third-party witnesses attest to his calm and 24 rational nature. She can't find one person to corroborate
25 the profile that she's trying to paint of him in front of

1 the Court now. And these are not just random people off of
2 the street that he got to write declarations. These are
3 people that hold prominent positions. We have a human
4 resource manager. We have a regional pharmacy supervisor.
5 We have a general manager of SmithCo Meats. And we also
6 have a statement from his wife, who they share a thirteen-
7 year-old daughter and an older 29-year-old daughter.

8 These people have testified in their declaration that 9 [REDACTED] has shown up at work with scratches on his face and 10 neck. And that when they've questioned him about what 11 happened, that he was protective of those things, and at 12 one point explained that the welts came from [REDACTED].
13 She claims that these came from him doing yard work or 14 being clumsy or something at home. But why would he be 15 protective of how he got them if that were the real case.

16 His current wife, [REDACTED] supports him. She allows
17 regular contact with their thirteen-year-old daughter. And 18 she even says in her declaration that [REDACTED] has 19 rescheduled visits so that [REDACTED] (phonetic) doesn't have 20 to be around [REDACTED] when there are behavioral issues going
21 on or when she has some kind of issues in the home. His
22 adult daughter also attests to his sobriety and the change
23 in his personality since he became sober in 2004.

24 Um, he completed domestic violence treatment in 2004.
25 And one of the things that he learned was that -- from that

3641 North Pearl Street, Building D, Tacoma, WA 98407 - (253) 627-2062

1 was to walk away. And his witnesses have also testified
2 that they've seen him sleeping in his car, or that he's
3 told them how important it is for him to walk away. This
4 is somebody that values his freedom. He doesn't want to go
5 back to jail. He values the life that he's built since
6 2004 and wouldn't put that in jeopardy.

7 The Court shouldn't see Ms. -- the Court should look
8 at [REDACTED] request today for what it really is. It
9 was a power play on her part to gain custody of this five-
10 year-old child, to gain control of the house that the 11 parties share together, and the ability to easily send my 12 client back to jail for any sort of alleged violation of a
13 civil Domestic Violence Protection Order that the Court
14 would enter against him. The Court's aware, she could show
15 up somewhere and call the police on him, and he could be
16 arrested just for having been there. And this actually
17 puts my client in a lot of fear of [REDACTED] and her
18 actions. He's afraid that if the Court enters a Domestic 19 Violence Protection Order today that she's going to do just 20 that.

21 Um, [REDACTED] claims that her intention was not to 22 keep the child away from [REDACTED]. But as the Court will 23 recall, when we were here requesting a continuance, we 24 asked that supervised visits be allowed. And she wouldn't 25 even agree to that. Um, she says that she wanted to keep

1 [REDACTED] from witnessing any violence between them, which is
2 almost impossible to happen if it's a supervised visit.
3 She said she was afraid that [REDACTED] would do something
4 that was scary or manipulative with the child. Which 5 again, if you have a professional supervisor, how would
6 that even happen?

7 Um, she further goes on to state that my client wants
8 the Court to believe that she's unstable, that she needs
9 medication. And she blames her emotional troubles on 10 living with him every day. But it's clear from her self-
11 supporting domestic violence assessment that she's suffered
12 abuse since she was a child. And she does have instability
13 and mental health issues that are currently being
14 untreated. Her evaluation indicates that she has severe
15 chronic Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder. That is a mental 16 condition that should be treated. And it --

17 MR. RUNDLE: Object to Counsel's qualifications, Your 18 Honor, to talk about mental health issues.

19 THE COURT: I'm treating it as argument. I'm not
20 giving it any weight as a --

21 MR. RUNDLE: Okay.

22 THE COURT: -- (Inaudible).

23 MS. CAMANDONA: [REDACTED] makes a final claim in her
24 declaration that now that she's separating from my client,
25 she's fearful of him and what he might do if the Court

1 doesn't grant this Order. He's made it abundantly clear
2 that he values his sobriety. He values his freedom. He
3 does not want to go back to jail, above all else. And he
4 doesn't want to have anything to do with Ms. Kellie if 5 that's how she feels about it.

6 But a single, isolated event that occurred in 2004,
7 albeit an egregious event, enough to put him in jail,
8 doesn't constitute a history of domestic violence on the 9 part of [REDACTED]. While she might not desire a relationship
10 with him, an Order for Protection is not a flexible tool
11 for dealing with custody issues. And the Court shouldn't 12 do so here today.

13 THE COURT: Mr. Rundle?

14 MR. RUNDLE: Your Honor, Counsel's entire argument is 15 nothing more than speculation and conjecture. Um, this 16 Court is fully aware of the -- the statutory guidelines, as 17 well as the case law in support of these decisions. And my 18 client does not have to wait to be beaten in order to ask
19 the Court for a Domestic Violence Order of Protection. She 20 needs to establish by a preponderance of the evidence that 21 she has a fear of imminent physical harm, as set forth in
22 RCW 26.50. And the case law, specifically Spinksi
23 (phonetic) Kaminsky (phonetic) and its progeny says that it
24 need not be based on a current incident of domestic
25 violence. The question is whether her fear is reasonable.

1 [REDACTED] was convicted in a very serious -- and I would
2 submit to you -- tortuous incident of domestic violence in
3 2004, including, and as I represented to you last time -- I
4 know you've read the documents -- where he chased her
5 outside the house so she was on the payphone. In those 6 days, you know, as you know, cell phones were relatively 7 new. And he pulled her from the payphone in order to 8 continue beating her. Deliberately broke her toe. He then
9 threatened her on April 29th with a baseball bat.

10 I think Counsel, quite frankly, is trying to spin what 11 she represented last time, as a sword for today. The 12 reason visitation was -- was objected to by me, quite 13 frankly, is Counsel had represented to me and this Court
14 that she was going to follow -- file a collateral family
15 law case. And I said to this Court, then let's let the 16 family court deal with any visitation, custody, parenting
17 plan, property issues.

18 But you know, going back to the speculation and 19 conjecture, Your Honor, I took the liberty of having my 20 client assessed, quite frankly. I've been doing this long
21 enough to know that, you know, I try to avoid he said/she
22 said whenever possible. And I sent my client to Steven 23 Pepping, who's been qualified by the trial judges as an 24 expert in domestic violence assessments and testified to 25 same. Mr. Pepping not only did, uh, some communication

3641 North Pearl Street, Building D, Tacoma, WA 98407 - (253) 627-2062

1 with my client, he did scientific testing. And based on
2 his scientific testing in his report, he concluded that she
3 is a victim of domestic violence.

4 If my client is a -- is suffering from Post-Traumatic
5 Stress Disorder at the hands of [REDACTED], well then yeah, of 6 course she may or may not have a mental health issue. But
7 then to turn around and say, "Well, she's got mental health
8 issues; therefore, you should just disregard everything she 9 says" is quite frankly, outrageous. And I could sit here
10 and tell this Court research, after research, after 11 research, after research, as to why victims of domestic 12 violence stay in relationships and don't leave for numerous 13 reasons. And I know this Court is familiar with that. And 14 I'm not qualified to get into that. But if you want me to,
15 I can be more than happy to line up the experts down the 16 hallway to come and testify to this Court.

17 But the fact of the matter is she is a documented
18 victim of felony domestic violence. She's telling this
19 Court that on April 29th, "he threatened to use a baseball
20 bat to hurt me". She's threatened -- and I remind this 21 Court, you know, Counsel wants to talk about how [REDACTED] is 22 this, you know, model citizen. So was Chief Brame. Chief
23 Brame was getting promotions to the Tacoma Police
24 Department before he shot and killed his wife in front of 25 the children. So I think that that is an absolutely

1 irrelevant position.

2 This Court's job today is to decide if by a
3 preponderance of the evidence, [REDACTED] is a victim of
4 domestic violence, as defined in RCW 26.50. And the answer
5 is yes. And I also bring to the Court's attention that 6 this whole argument about a custody grab, or however you
7 want to phrase it, the Court of Appeals just yesterday
8 issued a decision where they reversed Judge Orlando,
9 Division II. And the -- and I'm just paraphrasing. Where 10 Judge Orlando at that hearing had said that the kids, in 11 essence, were going to decide who they wanted to see and 12 whether they wanted to be with the father. And Judge
13 Orlando entered a Parenting Plan that had restrictions in 14 it. And the Court of Appeals reversed it.

15 THE COURT: It didn't have restrictions in it. It
16 basically said kids would decide --

17 MR. RUNDLE: So you've read it? Okay, so you don't 18 need me to tell you what it said. But the point I'm trying
19 to make, Your Honor, and you and I have had disagreements
20 on this issue, and that's fine. Family court acts
21 independent of this Court, and this Court acts independent
22 of the family court. And if you enter a DVPO, and there is 23 going to be a basis for restrictions in family court, the 24 family court has to make specific findings. And the number
25 one finding, paraphrasing, is that the -- a parent poses a

1 risk to the children. So the fact that you enter a DVPO
2 today is irrelevant when it comes to the parenting plan.

3 So I think it's smoke and mirrors. I -- you know, I
4 petition to this Court and I submit to this Court that the 5 whole filing in the family court was nothing more than to 6 try and cloud the issue and get this Court to just defer to
7 the family court. I remind this Court, under RCW
8 26.50.025, you can't do that. You have to make a decision
9 based on the DVPO.

10 And then if you choose to consolidate, which I'm a
11 little bit suspicious of why the ex parte is even in front
12 of this Court. Uh, and I -- this I not meant to malign
13 Counsel. I -- my understanding is Counsel may have asked
14 permission to have this all heard in front of one
15 Commissioner, so I understand that. But as far as I'm 16 concerned, you're playing two roles today. So I'm asking
17 you to decide the DVPO, and then move on to the family
18 court, if you so choose to do that today. Or send us back
19 to Commissioner Gelman across the hall.

20 But I, you know, am strongly submitting to the Court
21 to not make a decision and defer to the family court is not
22 proper. The legislative mandate is clear of what the 23 courts are supposed to do. And in fact, um, that was kind
24 of not for the purposes of DV, but how statutes that are 25 clear and unambiguous cannot be interpreted by a court.

1 And I remind the Court of RCW 26.50.025(2) that says
2 "relief under this chapter shall not be denied or delayed
3 on the grounds that the relief is available in another
4 action."

5 So I'm asking you to rule on the DVPO first. I have
6 not formally appeared in the family court, but, you know, I
7 am going to cooperate. And if you wish to enter any kind
8 of ex parte orders in the family court today, we can set a
9 return date. I am very confident that I will be appearing 10 in the family court case, and that we can deal with that in 11 two or three weeks at the return date.

12 THE COURT: All right, thanks. I don't think there's 13 any doubt, um, that in this relationship there's a history
14 of domestic violence. I don't think there's any doubt in 15 this relationship, based on, um, the records, that Ms.
16 [REDACTED] is a victim of domestic violence.

17 I'm also, um, satisfied based on the record in front
18 of me today that she has not met her burden of proof with 19 respect to the current Domestic Violence Protection Order.
20 So I will deny that request and dismiss the petition.

21 So did you want to address ex parte matters? Because
22 I do think it'd probably be appropriate to handle them
23 here, rather than --

24 MS. CAMANDONA: I --

25 THE COURT: -- send you back since this is --

1 MS. CAMANDONA: I do. And I did ask --

2 THE COURT: -- more (Inaudible) --

3 MS. CAMANDONA: -- permission of Commissioner Gelman,
4 as well yourself, yesterday.

5 THE CLERK: They're on our docket today.

6 THE COURT: Right. I know.

7 THE CLERK: Okay.

8 THE COURT: We gave permission yesterday.

9 MS. CAMANDONA: Yes.

10 THE COURT: So I just want to make sure. And I think
11 I heard Mr. Rundle saying he doesn't object to that.

12 MR. RUNDLE: Well, I was saying that I'll give it my 13 best shot, but I haven't reviewed everything. My client
14 was just served five minutes before --

15 THE COURT: So --

16 MS. CAMANDONA: Well, that's not entirely true, Your 17 Honor, because I haven't --

18 THE COURT: I'm not going to get too hung up on that.
19 I mean, let's -- let's -- I mean, there's going to be some 20 things that are going to be said that already have been
21 said on the record. I don't know that I need to have it
22 entirely repeated. I've read the family law case, and I
23 understand that that's not entirely -- um, you've had an
24 not as much time to familiarize yourself. But, um --

25 MS. CAMANDONA: Here --

1 THE COURT: -- you can make your request, and then
2 I'll let Mr. Rundle decide if he's prepared to proceed.
3 And if not, we can fashion a shortened time --

4 MR. RUNDLE: I can tell you right now, I'm not, Your 5 Honor. I have not read anything.

6 MS. CAMANDONA: Your Honor --

7 MR. RUNDLE: I advised her office that I was not
8 appearing. Um, I believe my assistant may have forwarded
9 some papers to [REDACTED], it would have been yesterday.
10 Um, I have not read anything. So I'm clearly --

11 MS. CAMANDONA: If I -- if I can inject (sic), Your 12 Honor.

13 THE COURT: -- going to be shooting from the --

14 MS. CAMANDONA: Um, the declaration that my client
15 cites is the same declaration that was submitted for the 16 DVPO. There isn't a new declaration for my client. The 17 only thing that [REDACTED] didn't address in her reply
18 declaration that we received on Monday was the child
19 support issue. And we're not covering that. So she's 20 already addressed the allegations of the alcohol and the 21 parenting of the child. So there isn't anything new that 22 [REDACTED] was served with today that Mr. Rundle didn't
23 receive last week.

24 THE COURT: All right. So back to Mr. Rundle then. I
25 mean, we can proceed as -- in some fashion today. Or if

1 you would rather have some time to -- to discuss it more
2 fully with your client, and we can set you up for first
3 thing tomorrow morning. I'm actually in ex parte tomorrow.
4 And so we can do it even before the normal start of the 5 docket --

6 MR. RUNDLE: I --

7 THE COURT: -- to accommodate everybody, or end of the 8 docket at 11:30, 11:15, something like that.

9 MR. RUNDLE: I would say 11:30 because I can't
10 remember what it was, but I remember my -- my assistant
11 told me that she set a consult for nine o'clock tomorrow.
12 And I believe I have some kind of a hearing or something
13 tomorrow afternoon. And then I'm pro-teming here on 14 Friday. So 11:30 tomorrow, if you think that's enough time
15 for you, would be fine.

16 MS. CAMANDONA: I have a doctor's appointment at 10:00
17 tomorrow, and I don't know how long it's going to last. I
18 don't anticipate it being longer than an hour.

19 THE COURT: First thing in the morn -- first thing in 20 the afternoon, then?

21 MS. CAMANDONA: First thing in the afternoon, I'm 22 fine.

23 THE COURT: Let me just check, Your Honor. I'm seeing
24 if I have any -- any, um, hearings tomorrow afternoon.
25 Because anything else I can move. But obviously, hearings,

1 I cannot. Tomorrow's the 5th?

2 THE COURT: I think so.

3 MS. CAMANDONA: Yes.

4 MR. RUNDLE: I have a hearing at 1:30 in front of 5 Commissioner Dicke, which should be quick because I'm
6 asking Commissioner Dicke to not rule pending a UCCJEA.
7 It's a paternity issue. So if you wanted to do 2:00, I'm
8 sure Commissioner Dicke would accommodate. But you're 9 gonna be ex parte afternoon, too?

10 THE COURT: I'll be there.

11 MS. CAMANDONA: Okay.

12 THE COURT: Two o'clock.

13 MS. CAMANDONA: Two o'clock is fine.

14 THE COURT: All right. So, um, and let me -- I'll say
15 this. If -- and I don't want to just fill up everybody's 16 day and make them wait, and wait, and wait. If you walk in 17 at two o'clock and it's packed, then we can talk about
18 coming back later in the afternoon so that when we -- it
19 sort of clears. But let's -- we'll assume two.

20 (Inaudible) --

21 MS. CAMANDONA: Okay.

22 MR. RUNDLE: I'm trying to think of -- I'm trying to 23 think if I have something later.

24 THE COURT: Yeah.

25 MR. RUNDLE: I don't have my --

1 THE COURT: So this -- I know. And I get that. We'll
2 do our best tomorrow.

3 MR. RUNDLE: Yeah.

4 THE COURT: Um, the Court on its own motion, sua
5 sponte, is going to enter a Restraining Order in the family
6 law case restraining [REDACTED] from having any contact with 7 [REDACTED] (sic) between now and the next hearing.

8 MS. CAMANDONA: [REDACTED]

9 THE COURT: So if you grab the Restraining Order form,
10 bottom middle. So that he's not to come to her place of 11 residence, place of employment or otherwise have contact
12 with her or, um, disturb her peace. That'll be the order
13 until tomorrow at two.

14 MS. CAMANDONA: Can we make that mutual, Your Honor?

15 THE COURT: No.

16 MR. RUNDLE: Your Honor, I'm gonna ask the Court -- I
17 don't see the order. I don't recall if it's in the pattern
18 form that, uh, we put in the language that notifies [REDACTED]
19 that if he violates it he's subject to arrest so it gives 20 it a little bit more teeth.

21 THE COURT: It is in the --

22 MR. RUNDLE: It is in there? Okay.

23 THE COURT: Yeah. So we'll get a signature on it as 24 well.

25 MR. RUNDLE: Okay.

1 THE COURT: And, um, the best practice is to take a
2 copy over to South Sound 911 to make sure --

3 MR. RUNDLE: I can do that. I'm actually parked
4 across the street. So I can drop it off. I assume that's
5 okay that they don't want it to come through 108. I don't 6 want to --

7 THE COURT: They do. 108 --

8 MR. RUNDLE: Okay.

9 THE COURT: -- tells us take it straight --

10 MR. RUNDLE: Okay. I will do that then.

11 THE COURT: -- over to South Sound 911.

12 MS. CAMANDONA: How -- is there a distance
13 requirement, Your Honor, did you say?

14 THE COURT: I didn't say.

15 MS. CAMANDONA: Okay.

16 THE COURT: Um, what's your request, Mr. Rundle?

17 MR. RUNDLE: Uh, 100 feet. I mean, I don't want to 18 prevent someone from going on I5. Um, but --

19 THE COURT: 100 feet's fine.

20 MS. CAMANDONA: Okay.

21 MR. RUNDLE: Um, I'm gonna need to put an expiration 22 date on this, Your Honor, because --

23 THE COURT: It should be front page, bottom.

24 MR. RUNDLE: Right.

25 THE COURT: Um, 6-5-14. It's good until tomorrow.

1 MR. RUNDLE: Um, how about with the Court's
2 permission, why don't I put Monday? Because it can always
3 be superseded by anything you do tomorrow.

4 THE COURT: That's fine.

5 MR. RUNDLE: Okay.

6 THE COURT: Sure.

7 MR. RUNDLE: So that would be 6, 7, 8 -- 9th.

8 THE COURT: 9th.

9 MR. RUNDLE: Okay. Just in case we can't hook up with 10 you tomorrow, we have an overlap for the weekend.

11 THE COURT: That's fine.

12 MR. RUNDLE: I haven't formally appeared, Your Honor.
13 So I'm gonna go ahead and sign, but I'm gonna need [REDACTED]
14 to sign this as well.

15 THE COURT: Yes, he does need to sign.

16 MR. [REDACTED]: Date, too?

17 MS. CAMANDONA: Yes, please. (Inaudible)?

18 MR. RUNDLE: Yes. Thanks.

19 MS. CAMANDONA: We have the same pen. (Inaudible).

20 MR. RUNDLE: (Inaudible).

21 MS. CAMANDONA: Yeah.

22 THE COURT: Ms. Camandona, would you fill out the rest
23 of the boxes related to his physical description, please?

24 MS. CAMANDONA: Yes. Yes, I will. Height?

25 MR. [REDACTED]: Six foot.

1 MS. CAMANDONA: Weight?

2 MR. [REDACTED]: 190.

3 MS. CAMANDONA: Eyes?

4 MR. [REDACTED]: Blue. Hair bald.

5 THE COURT: All right. Clerk's going to make you
6 copies. The Court will be at recess. See everybody at two 7 o'clock tomorrow.

8 MR. RUNDLE: Okay. Thank you.

9 MS. CAMANDONA: Thank you.

10 MR. [REDACTED]: Thank you.

☒ 19. The respondent will be allowed visitations as follows: Reserved for pending ~~dissolution~~; Cause No. 11-3-01479-9.

The court has found by a preponderance that issuance of this order is allowed, but this is not to affect the parenting plan nor does it control the court's decision regarding 191 allegations.

Petitioner may request modification of visitation if respondent fails to comply with treatment or counseling as ordered by the court.

If the person with whom the child resides a majority of the time plans to relocate the child, that person must comply with the notice requirements of the Child Relocation Act. Persons entitled to time with the child under a court order may object to the proposed relocation. See RCW 26.09, RCW 26.10 or RCW 26.26 for more information.

Warnings to the Respondent: A violation of provisions 1 through 6 of this order with actual notice of its terms is a criminal offense under chapter 26.50 RCW and will subject you to arrest. If the violation of the protection order involves travel across a state line or the boundary of a tribal jurisdiction, or involves conduct within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States, which includes tribal lands, you may be subject to criminal prosecution in federal court under 18 U.S.C. §§ 2261, 2261A, or 2262.

A violation of provisions 1 through 6, 14, or 15 of this order is a gross misdemeanor unless one of the following conditions apply: Any assault that is a violation of this order and that does not amount to assault in the first degree or second degree under RCW 9A.36.011 or 9A.36.021 is a class C felony. Any conduct in violation of this order that is reckless and creates a substantial risk of death or serious physical injury to another person is a class C felony. Also, a violation of this order is a class C felony if you have at least two previous convictions for violating a protection order issued under Titles 7, 10, 26 or 74 RCW.

If you are convicted of an offense of domestic violence, you will be forbidden for life from possessing a firearm or ammunition. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(9); RCW 9.41.040.

You Can Be Arrested Even if the Person or Persons Who Obtained the Order Invite or Allow You to Violate the Order's Prohibitions. You have the sole responsibility to avoid or refrain from violating the order's provisions. Only the court can change the order upon written application.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2265, a court in any of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, any United States territory, and any tribal land within the United States shall accord full faith and credit to the order.

It is further ordered that the clerk of the court shall forward a copy of this order on or before the next judicial day to SNOHOMISH COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE Where Petitioner Lives which shall enter it in a computer-based criminal intelligence system available in this state used by law enforcement to list outstanding warrants.

☐ Possession of the vehicle designated in paragraph 7, above.

☐ Other: _____

This Order is in Effect Until the Expiration Date on Page One.

If the duration of this order exceeds one year, the court finds that an order of one year or less will be insufficient to prevent further acts of domestic violence.

PROCEEDINGS/COURT'S FINDINGS:

IN LIGHT OF THE FACT THAT THE RESPONDENT HAS SUPERIOR LANGUAGE SKILLS,
BETTER FINANCIAL ASSETS AND FAMILY SUPPORT, THE COURT FINDS THE DISSOLUTION
PAPERWORK TO BE BULLYING AT BEST. THE FACT THAT HE IS THREATENING TO TAKE CUSTODY OF THE PARTIES' CHILDREN, AND TO USE THAT AS A LEVER AGAINST THE PETITIONER

THE LAW IS CLEAR THAT THE PARENT WHO HAS BEEN PROVIDING THE MOST CARE OF THE CHILDREN FOR THE PAST YEAR WILL MOST LIKELY BE NAMED THE CUSTODIAL PARENT.
FOR COUNSEL TO LEAD HIS ARGUMENT BY INTIMIDATING THE MOTHER WITH THE LOSS OF HER CHILDREN IS THREATENING AND IS NOT IN COMPLIANCE WITH WHAT THE LAW IS.
CHILDREN ARE NOT FURNITURE AND ONE DOES NOT NEGOTIATE ABOUT CHILDREN AS IF

CONSIDERING THE ENTIRETY OF THE SITUATION, THE COURT FINDS THAT THERE HAVE BEEN SOME BEHAVIORS THAT HAVE BEEN DONE IN THE HEAT OF ANGER THAT FALL WITHIN THE DEFINITION OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE. THE RESPONDENT HAS PUNCHED IN WALLS AND BROKEN OTHER PROPERTY, WHICH AT THE LEAST IS THREATENING. THE SPECIFIC INCIDENCE WHICH LED THE PARTIES INTO COURT DOES NOT FALL WITHIN THE STATUTE OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE; HOWEVER THERE HAS BEEN SOME NOT DIFFICULTY IN THE PARTIES ACCEPTING NEW BOUNDARIES. THE RESPONDENT IS INSTRUCTED TO LEAVE THE PETITIONER'S HOME WHEN SHE TELLS HIM TO. THE FACT THAT SHE HAS ASKED HIM TO LEAVE AND HE REFUSED TO DO SO CREATES A DIFFICULT SITUATION.

THE COURT WILL RE-ISSUE THE TEMPORARY ORDER TO GIVE THE PARTIES A BREAK AND HOPEFULLY LET THEIR EMOTIONS COOL OFF. THEY SHOULD ENTER ANY RESTRAINTS THEY FEEL THEY NEED IN THEIR DISSOLUTION PAPERWORK. THE COURT WILL REMOVE MOST OF THE RESTRAINTS FROM THE ORDER IN REGARD TO THE CHILDREN. THE MOTHER INDICATES ANY ABUSE IS AIMED TOWARD HER, AND NOT THE CHILDREN.

THE MOTHER INDICATES SHE DOES NOT FEEL THAT THE CHILDREN SHOULD BE SUPERVISED WHEN THEY ARE WITH THEIR FATHER FOR SHORT VISITS. THE FATHER SHALL HAVE THE CHILDREN WEDNESDAYS AND FRIDAYS FROM 5:00 P.M. TO 7:00 P.M. THE MOTHER WILL TELL THE PATERNAL GRANDFATHER WHERE THE CHILDREN MAY BE PICKED UP. THE RESPONDENT MAY RETURN TO THE FAMILY HOME.

COURT POLICY RE: PARENTING PLANS IN DOMESTIC VIOLENCE / ANTI-HARASSMENT CASES

In any case under a Domestic Violence (DV) Petition for Order of Protection that involves children of the parties to the action, the court's principal policy is that they will only address visitation or other parenting concerns on a temporary basis. That is because the principal object of these actions is to provide protection to the petitioner(s) and also because parenting issues deserve a more comprehensive examination before a long-term decision is made regarding the parties' schedule with the children.

As a result of this policy, the court will not enter a parenting plan or residential schedule in a DV action. If the Respondent has appeared and is requesting a schedule of contact with their children, that request will be considered. If granted, the visitation schedule will normally "sunset" or expire in a period of several weeks or months to allow one or the other of the parties to commence a parentage, dissolution or legal separation action where a more complete parenting plan or residential schedule can be developed. The court may not order that the parties commence such an action, but it should be understood that unless such an action is commenced that the court sanctioned contact awarded in the DV Order of Protection would expire on the date of the sunset period, unless extended by further court order.

The court will not order any residential time or visitation under an Anti-Harassment Petition under any circumstances.

Warnings to Respondent: A violation of provisions 1 through 6 of this order with actual notice of its terms is a criminal offense under chapter 26.50 RCW and will subject you to arrest. If the violation of the protection order involves travel across a state line or the boundary of a tribal jurisdiction, or involves conduct within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States, which includes tribal land, you may be subject to criminal prosecution in federal court under 18 U.S.C. § 2261, 2261A, or 2262.

A violation of provisions 1 through 6 of this order is a gross misdemeanor unless one of the following conditions apply: Any assault that is a violation of this order and that does not amount to assault in the first degree or second degree under RCW 9A.36.011 or 9A.36.021 is a class C felony. Any conduct in violation of this order that is reckless and creates a substantial risk of death or serious physical injury to another person is a class C felony. Also, a violation of this order is a class C felony if you have at least two previous convictions for violating a protection order issued under Titles 7, 10, 26 or 74 RCW.

If the court issues a final protection order, and your relationship to the petitioner is that of spouse or former spouse, parent of a common child, or former or current cohabitant intimate partner, including a current or former registered domestic partner, you may not possess a firearm or ammunition for as long as that final protection order is in effect. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(8). A violation of this federal firearms law carries a maximum possible penalty of 10 years in prison and a $250,000 fine. An exception exists for law enforcement officers and military personnel when carrying department/government issued firearms. 18 U.S.C. § 925(a)(1). If you are convicted of an offense of domestic violence, you will be forbidden for life from possessing a firearm or ammunition.

18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(9); RCW 9.41.040.

You Can Be Arrested Even if the Person or Persons Who Obtained the Order Invite or Allow You to Violate the Order's Prohibitions. You have the sole responsibility to avoid or refrain from violating the order's provisions. Only the court can change the order upon written application.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2265, a court in any of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, any United States territory, and any tribal land within the United States shall accord full faith and credit to the order.

It is further ordered that the clerk of the court shall forward a copy of this order on or before the next judicial day to Walla Walla ☐ County Sheriff's Office ☒ Police Department Where Petitioner Lives which shall enter it in a computer based criminal intelligence system available in this state used by law enforcement to list outstanding warrants.

☒ The clerk of the court shall also forward a copy of this order on or before the next judicial day to Walla Walla ☐ County Sheriff's Office ☒ Police Department Where Respondent Lives which shall personally serve the respondent with a copy of this order and shall promptly complete and return to this court proof of service.
☐ Petitioner has made private arrangements for service of this order.

☐ Law enforcement shall assist petitioner in obtaining:

"Domestic violence" means physical harm, bodily injury, assault, including sexual assault, stalking, Or inflicting fear of imminent physical harm, bodily injury or assault between family or household members.

Statement: The respondent has committed acts of domestic violence as follows. (Describe specific acts of domestic violence and their approximate dates, beginning with the most recent act. You may want to include police responses.)

Describe the most recent incident or threat of violence and date: On August 6th I packed my suitcase and some bags. I was suicidal from the years of abuse and him making me look like the abuser. He agreed to take me to the hospital. I stated I was done with him and wouldn't be coming back due to the state of my emotional and mental health. I was afraid to stay due to him knocking me out and breaking my teeth 10 days earlier. He stopped the car in the street in the 100 block of 17th and started throwing my bags in the street. I tried to stop him from throwing my suitcase as it was full of possessions including breakables. The suitcase hit the street and exploded. He drove off and I started picking anything up. A gal with long blonde hair came out of the house we were in front of. She asked if I was okay and I told her no. She stood with me while I picked my things up. I walked a block and didn't know what to do so I decided to get a coffee and regain composure. The police pulled up and I spoke to an officer about being suicidal. He wrote me a ticket for assault although I was defending myself. Then he took me and my stuff to the hospital. I stayed for 3 days and moved to the CSU for 3 days.

Describe the past incidents where you experienced violence, where you were afraid of injury or where the respondent threatened to harm or kill you: On July 21st [redacted] punched me in the face knocking me out and breaking two of my teeth. I came to, he was standing over me crying. He told me I had been out for over a minute and thought my jaw maybe broken. He told me he needed to be punished and felt bad and was scared of what he had done. He later stated that it was completely unprovoked and I had been standing in the perfect position to get knocked out so he took it. We had been at Porky's Singing Karaoke and were in the parking lot when it took place. He drove me to my mom's and told her what he had done. I stayed at my mom's and he went to his mom's and told her what he had done. He even told our 5 year old [redacted] the next day that he had knocked me out. I went to the doctor on the 31st at 9:30am because my swelling was not going down. I was told it was a hematoma and they take time to heal. My head hurt, my teeth hurt, my ears and jaw hurt. In April [redacted] punched me in the mouth and broke a tooth I just had fixed because I talked to a male friend I have known for 23 years.

Describe any violence or threats towards children: I have seen and heard [redacted] spank [redacted] excessively on numerous occasions. I have seen him punch walls to intimidate her into compliance. When she was still in diapers I contacted CPS because she came home with bruises and bites that could not be explained. A Seattle Dr. got involved through CPS and determined that yes, it was abuse but they had no way to prove who had done it. [redacted] always said he never saw anything on her and hadn't done anything to her. [redacted] has hit, pushed, choked, pulled me around by my hair, shoved me and my face into vomit in front of [redacted]. He has also attempted rape in front of her.

Describe any stalking behavior by respondent, including use of telephonic, audiovisual or electronic means to harass or monitor: [redacted] appears and calls my mother's house looking for me. He bombards me with texts, recently he's had his mother text me. He calls the cops to say I'm breaking the law trying to get me in trouble. He has broke into my computer and read my e-mails and monitors my Facebook. He has taken my car keys so I can't leave. He changes the door knobs if I do leave. He refuses to give me my belongings. He has in the past broken into my apartment when I was away.

Describe medical treatment you received and for what: I have been hospitalized for Mental Health issues due to abuse in 2011 and as recent as August 6, 2012. I got pain medication from the doctor on July 31st after getting a facial hematoma. I got a tooth fixed by Dr. Paul on April 12th after Mike punched me breaking my tooth. I have 2 teeth that are still broken from the July 27th incident. I have ongoing appointments at LCMH.
 Describe any threats of suicide or suicidal behavior by the respondent: I have suffered from depression, anxiety and Post traumatic Stress disorder. I continue to see a doctor and mental Health Specialist to help cope with the abuse.

Does the respondent own or possess firearms? ☒ Yes ☐ No

Does the respondent use firearms, weapons or objects to threaten or harm you? Please describe:

He has thrown things like movies, remotes, keys. He has thrown my belongings out the front door, broken furniture, and thrown things from the car. He has hurt my cat who is now missing.

If you are requesting that the protection order lasts longer than one year, describe the reasons why:

We spent 9 months apart and the day the protection order was up he was at my front door. I am afraid of him and fear he will follow the same pattern. I have fallen for this and returned many times. This has been going on for 11 years. He used to break into my apartment when I was away or working. I need this order because I'm afraid I will go back and he will kill me if he is allowed to continue to contact and harass me.

Other: I have endured sexual abuse. He has raped, attempted to rape, intimidate, coerce, manipulate, and intoxicate to gain sex. He would do this even after hurting me. Saying he loved me and wanted to make-up. He has told me it's my duty. He has used money and homelessness and even my daughter to gain power over me.

Warnings to Respondent: A violation of provisions 1 through 6 of this order with actual notice of its terms is a criminal offense under chapter 26.50 RCW and will subject you to arrest. If the violation of the protection order involves travel across a state line or the boundary of a tribal jurisdiction, or involves conduct within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States, which includes tribal lands, you may be subject to criminal prosecution in federal court under 18 U.S.C. § 2261, 2261A, or 2262.

A violation of provisions 1 through 6 of this order is a gross misdemeanor unless one of the following conditions apply: Any assault that is a violation of this order and that does not amount to assault in the first degree or second degree under RCW 9A.36.011 or 9A.36.021 is a class C felony. Any conduct in violation of this order that is reckless and creates a substantial risk of death or serious physical injury to another person is a class C felony. Also, a violation of this order is a class C felony if you have at least two previous convictions for violating a protection order issued under Titles 7, 10, 26 or 74 RCW.

If the court issues a final protection order, and your relationship to the petitioner is that of spouse or former spouse, parent of a common child, or former or current cohabitant as intimate partner, including a current or former registered domestic partner, you may not possess a firearm or ammunition for as long as that final protection order is in effect. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(8). A violation of this federal firearms law carries a maximum possible penalty of 10 years in prison and a $250,000 fine. An exception exists for law enforcement officers and military personnel when carrying department/government-issued firearms. 18 U.S.C. § 925(a)(1). If you are convicted of an offense of domestic violence, you will be forbidden for life from possessing a firearm or ammunition. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(9); RCW 9A.1.040.

You Can Be Arrested Even if the Person or Persons Who Obtained the Order Invite or Allow You to Violate the Order's Prohibitions. You have the sole responsibility to avoid or refrain from violating the order's provisions. Only the court can change the order upon written application.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2265, a court in any of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, any United States territory, and any tribal land within the United States shall accord full faith and credit to the order.

It is further ordered that the clerk of the court shall forward a copy of this order on or before the next judicial day to Wahkiakum ☒ County Sheriff's Office ☐ Police Department Where Petitioner Lives which shall enter it in a computer based criminal intelligence system available in this state used by law enforcement to list outstanding warrants.
